Acute Care

In addition to post acute services that are used to manage high cost services, FHA also provides several select services to acute care providers. These services are designed to assist acute care providers to manage higher cost patients in a quality and cost effective manner.

FHA services include:

ACE Program Development. This program provides the environment and care delivery model for frail elderly patients that foster a higher quality of care, prevent further physical and mental deterioration during the acute care stay, and enhance cost efficiency allowing acute care providers to deliver care.

Senior Programs. The services consist of a variety of programs designed to create linkages between seniors and providers, foster brand loyalty, provide support services to families and physicians for better management of the frailer senior and promote health through education and healthy living.

Medical Staff planning based on specific community needs and development.

Community based care management systems eliminate unnecessary emergency room visits and hospital admissions.

Neurosciences Center of Excellence, designed to foster growth in the inpatient and outpatient segments for this population.

Specialty outpatient programs, such as CORFs, day hospital for the pulmonary and congestive heart failure and Federally Qualified Clinics.
